

INDUSTRY NEWS

Communio Group sold to technical director Andrew Turner

Communio Group and its subsidiaries have been sold through a management buyout to its Technical Director Andrew Turner. The details of the financial transaction will not be disclosed.

The company's activities surround the sales and maintenance of its core products from suppliers such as Avaya, Mitel, InterTel, and Panasonic amongst others while maintaining over 1,500 customer sites across the United Kingdom.

Nadahl Shocair, Communio's departing interim-ceo, said: "When I considered the options for the business and its future, Andy Turner's offer to acquire the business was the best solution for both the Communio family and its customers.

This management buyout now releases me to spend more time at home in the USA and on my other IP-based business interests."